

TITLE: Beyond Copenhagen: Climate Change and Renewable Energies in Asia and Europe

DATE: Wednesday, July 28th

VENUE: China Europe International Business School (CEIBS),

PROGRAMME:

9:30 am. Welcome speech by David Gosset, Director of Academia Sinica Europea, CEIBS (15 min)

9:45 am Presentation of the publication by Amadeo Jensana, Director of Economic and Cooperation Programmes of Casa Asia (15 min.)

Casa Asia present the conclusions of the International Conference on Climate Change and Renewable Energies in Asia and Africa organized in collaboration with Casa Africa, the Spanish Agency for International Cooperation for Development AECID, the Obra Social Fundación “la Caixa”, QuEST, ACS Foundation, Técnicas Reunidas. The publication includes four different parts on multilateral programmes for sustainable development concerning energy, regional and global policies in the struggle against climate change, strategies for the use of clean energy in Asian and African countries, and entrepreneurial cooperation in the renewable energy sector between Africa, Asia and Europe.

10:00 am First Lecture by Yang Hongwei, Director/Research Professor of Energy Efficiency Center, Energy Research Institute, NDRC

Low Carbon Economy: the Chinese prospective (15 min.)

10:15 am Second Lecture by Sofía Martínez, Project manager of international cooperation, International Relations Department, Institute for Diversification and Saving of Energy IDEA

Low Carbon Economy: the Spanish prospective (15 min)

10:30 am Roundtable with all the participants (30min):

There are clean technologies to reach the 2020 goals although it is necessary to promote them and extend their use. The focal point of this roundtable will be the role of the private sector to achieve a sustainable economy through technology development and the possibilities of business cooperation in the renewable industry to achieve a low carbon economy.

11:00 am Public Debate (15 min.)